Rail Official Described
Tragedy As Terrible;
Switch Blamed

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20—(UP)—Nine persons were killed, one was missing and 40 were injured in a collision of two Southern Pacific railroad passenger trains today 180 miles east of here.

Six of the dead were passengers. J. H. Dyer, vice president of the railroad, who was aboard one of the trains, notified his office here of the casualty total.

He said four of the dead were passengers. Three were trainmen. Two mail clerks, missing earlier, were found, badly injured, in wreckage of a mail car. A third clerk had not been found.

The trains were the California, bound for Chicago, and the Argonaut, bound for Los Angeles from New Orleans.

Dyer said three of the dead were:

C. E. Morton, engineer of the California.

Robert H. Richardson, engineer of the Argonaut.

H. R. Parsons, fireman of the Argonaut.

Switch Blamed

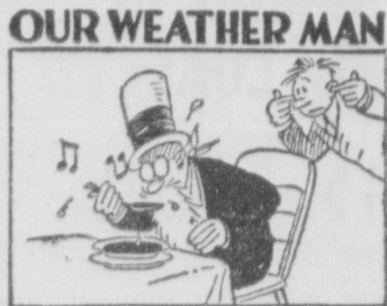

The Argonaut apparently struck a faulty switch and ran onto a siding where it smashed head-on into the California, which was on (Continued on Page Two)

FOUR UNINJURED AS AUTO SKIDS FROM HIGHWAY

Four Kentucky corn cutters escaped with minor injuries Tuesday about 7:45 a. m. when the auto in which they were riding skidded down a bank and overturned near the Joseph Wolfe farm in Salt-creek township.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff, who investigated the accident, said the auto was a bus of Pickaway township school on a curve. The auto driver, D. C. Ferguson, a Kentuckian, pulled to the side of the road and the car skidded over the bank. Others in the car were Emery and Richard Ferguson, and Harvey Skaggs.

The bus driver was Lawrence McKenzie, Pickaway township.

These Three Guide Destiny of Czechs

PRESIDENT Edouard Benes . . . will he continue to be firm in his stand of "no plebiscite" and no "annexation"? Or will he accept the reported agreement reached in the London parley of British and French government leaders?

FOREIGN Minister Kamil Krofta . . . firmly against a plebiscite but believes peace can be maintained in central Europe by some sort of regional pact that would guarantee his country's territorial integrity.

PREMIER Milan Hodza . . . broadcast to the world from Prague a declaration that Czechoslovakia would not submit to a plebiscite to determine the future of the Sudeten German area. Government, people and army are united.

HURRICANE MAY MISS FLORIDA

Atlantic Storm Changing
Course; C. C. C. Camp,
Prison Moved

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 20—(UP)—The federal hurricane warning system announced today that the hurricane that had imperiled the Bahamas islands and Florida for 24 hours had changed its course and will dissipate itself at sea.

The storm, which drove 1,000 miles across the Atlantic toward the southeastern Florida coast, abruptly changed its course last night. Early today it was about 300 miles east of Stuart, Fla.

"We are pleased to announce that latest reports from the storm area indicate that it is continuing to curve toward a northerly direction and there is no further danger to the Florida East coast," the warning system said.

"The storm will move northward over the Atlantic well off the coast.

FLOOD WATERS MENACING IOWA CITY UTILITIES

DUBUQUE, Ia., Sept. 20—(UP)—Flood waters of the Mississippi river flooded river-bank areas today and as the river continued to rise, threatened to shut off the city's water and power supplies.

At least 500 persons have been driven from their homes. They were cared for by the Red Cross, Catholic charities and other relief agencies.

The river rose to 20.4 feet, 1.2 feet below a record set in 1880. The crest was expected to be reached today at 20.6 feet.

Basements of the water and power plants were flooded and pumps were in constant use to keep the water away from machinery. In addition, many business houses were threatened.

Southeastern Iowa cities, and sections of southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois also reported flood conditions.

Heavy rains for the last week have swollen the Sugar and Peconica rivers in northern Illinois. Highways, lowlands and basements are flooded. The Des Moines river also was out of its banks but was nearing its crest.

GAINES TRIAL CHARGED

Trial of William Gaines, 26, Columbus, indicted on a statutory charge, originally set for Thursday, has been reassigned for Tuesday, Sept. 27.

10 INDICTED FOR "HEAT" DEATHS OF PEN INMATES

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20—(UP)—The superintendent, deputy warden, a guard captain and two guards were indicted today by the grand jury on murder and manslaughter charges growing out of the "heat" deaths of four inmates of Philadelphia county prison.

Five other guards were indicted on manslaughter charges, making a total of 10 held. Sixty-eight true bills were returned.

Superintendent William B. Mills, Deputy Warden Frank A. Craven, Guard Captain James McGuire and Guards Alfred Brough and Francis Smith each was indicted on four counts of murder and four counts of manslaughter.

It was reported that the Czechoslovakia already had sent secret messages to London and Paris intimating acceptance in principle.

SERINO'S JURY TO VISIT SCENE OF CONN DEATH

CADIZ, O., Sept. 20—(UP)—A jury of 10 men and two women was completed today for the trial of Peter Serino, a Pittsburgher, for the murder of Ohio Highway Patrolman George Conn.

County prosecutor Fred Orum had expected that a panel might not be completed before tonight.

The venire was chosen by the end of court yesterday, the opening day of the trial.

Serino is the first of four men, including an ex-Pittsburgher, to be tried for the slaying of Conn, whose body was found in a ditch near Freeport, O., last Sept. 27.

Each side used five of six peremptory challenges. Eight veniremen were excused because of opposition to capital punishment.

The jury was to visit the scene of the crime today.

POSTMASTER, 55, FOUND DEAD IN REAR OF OFFICE

NORWALK, O., Sept. 20—(UP)—Coroner J. D. Bradish today investigated the fatal shooting of Postmaster C. O. Frederick, 55, whose body was found in the rear of the postoffice last night, a bullet through his heart.

Friends said Frederick had been worried over the recent diagnosis of his physical condition by a physician. A gun was found in the postmaster's pocket.

Frederick was secretary of the Moose lodge for several years. He once operated a cigar factory here. He formerly was secretary of the Huron county board of elections and recently began his second term as postmaster. He is survived by his wife.

Coroner Bradish and police were unable to locate Mrs. Frederick today and said they would force their way into the Frederick home.

BRITISH LEADER TO SEE FUEHRER

Chamberlain And Hitler To Confer In Godesberg
Probably Wednesday

LONDON, Sept. 20—(UP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain expects to leave tomorrow for Godesberg, "Hill of the Gods," on the German Rhine to inform Fuehrer Adolf Hitler officially of the British-French surrender to his demands in the Czechoslovak minority crisis, it was understood today.

Chamberlain asked Hitler last night, it was understood, to name the day and place for their meeting.

It was hoped that by that time Czechoslovakia would have assented formally to Hitler's terms "in principle," leaving details to be arranged later.

It was reported that Czechoslovakia already had sent secret messages to London and Paris intimating acceptance in principle.

PRESIDENT ACTS TO END DANGER OF RAIL STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—(UP)—President Roosevelt will meet railway labor leaders today in an effort to settle the $250,000,000 railroad wage dispute before it reaches the strike stage.

The President's informal intervention followed his conference last week with the National Mediation board which failed to mediate the dispute. Informed sources said that Mr. Roosevelt would meet rail executives soon, probably within 48 hours.

Members of the Railway Labor Executives' association and its wage committee were called to a special session by Chairman George M. Harrison this morning. The wage committee probably will accompany Harrison to the White House.

President J. J. Pelley of the Association of American Railroads and its general counsel, R. V. Fletcher, would not comment on reports that they had been called to the White House.

YOUNG SAILOR SEASICK NOT APPENDIX VICTIM

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Sept. 20—(UP)—When the skipper of the trawler Heckla radioed that Michael Burke, 19 year old crew member, was suffering from appendicitis, coast guards placed him aboard the cutter Argo and steamed 200 miles to this island.

Today, U. S. marine hospital attaches diagnosed his illness as seasickness.

GERMANS CLAIM FLEEING NAZIS SHOT BY CZECHS

Martial Law Declared In Three More Sudeten
Districts

CUSTOMS OFFICIAL SLAIN

Uniformed Men Take Part
In Attack, Berlin
Advices Say

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 20—(UP)—Martial law was extended to three more Sudeten German areas today—Friedland, Braunau and Trautmannau. Now there are 19 Sudeten districts under martial law.

BERLIN, Sept. 20—(UP)—Two grave clashes on the Czechoslovak frontier were reported today by the official German news bureau while Adolf Hitler prepared to invite Premier Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain to a conference on the minority problem.

First, the agency in a dispatch from Goerz, alleged that several hundred men in Czech army uniform raided the frontier at Seidenhof and wounded 17 German border officials.

Soon afterward the agency asserted that nine Sudeten Germans, attacked a Czech customs house, killed a Czech customs official and made another Czech customs official prisoner. This attack, it was indicated, was in retaliation against firing by Czechs on Sudeten refugees, fleeing across the frontier to Germany.

Radicals Displeased

Either incident was packed with diplomatic dynamite at the most delicate moment of the Czechoslovak crisis—when Adolf Hitler had not been advised of Czechoslovakia's attitude on dismemberment and when radical Nazis seemed disappointed that Hitler had won his victory without an actual clash of arms.

In the alleged Czech raid, it was implied but not actually asserted that the Czechs, armed with rifles and machine guns, crossed into German territory.

It was first said that they "attempted" to cross the border and kidnap Sudeten German refugees at Seidenhof refugee camp. One group opened fire at 3:30 a. m. on German posts and customs offices, it was alleged and German border patrols, which had been strengthened during the night, replied to the fire.

Later, it was said, the Czechs fired into the village for an hour, wounding 20 German officials seriously and 15 slightly.

At 4:30, it was added, the Czechs "retired" to Czech territory.

As regards the second incident, the official news agency said in (Continued on Page Two)

MERCURY FALLS TO 53; COUNTY ESCAPES FROST

Pickaway county shivered Tuesday but was not nipped by frost.

Reports circulated early in the morning that frost had visited some parts of the county were declared untrue by various farmers. Temperatures as low as 42 degrees were reported in some communities.

Dr. H. R. Clarke, Circleville weather recorder, gave the official low for the city as 53 degrees. The temperatures are about 15 degrees below normal for this season, Dr. Clarke said.

Cloudy and cool weather was predicted for late Tuesday. Fair skies were forecast for Wednesday.

ADELPHI CHURCH PLANS SHOW OF FALL FLOWERS

Fourth annual Fall Flower Day will be observed in the Adelphi church Sunday, with flowers and late fall flowers will be used to decorate the church.

The program will start at 9:30 a. m. There will be special music and readings. Paul A. Potts, superintendent of the Amanda schools, will be the speaker.

All interested persons are invited to attend the special service.

SOVIET REFUSES TO AID CZECHS

London Newspaper Claims
That Roumania Blocks
Troop Movement

LONDON, Sept. 20—(UP)—The Evening Standard's diplomatic correspondent reported today that Soviet Russia had turned down an appeal by Czechoslovakia for military aid in resisting surrender of the Sudetenland to Germany.

The newspaper said that it was understood the Czechs appealed urgently to Moscow for promises of assistance in event they decided to fight rather than accept the British-French deal for delivering the Sudeten area to the Reich.

The Russians refused, the Evening Standard said, on the grounds that they could not send an army through Roumania. The Soviet is bound by treaty to aid the Czechs against an invader only if France first gives them aid which apparently is out of the question in the present circumstances. Roumania has indicated that Russian troops would not be given permission to pass through their territory unless France also was giving assistance to the Czechs.

The Evening Standard said that President Edouard Benes of Czechoslovakia told the Moscow government that Prague must surrender to the German demands for annexation of the Sudetenland unless Russia immediately agreed to aid the Czechs independently of whatever course France and Great Britain adopted.

The Czechoslovak reply to the British-French proposal depends on the Russian position. Benes told the Soviet officials, according to the newspaper.

STOCKS CLIMB THREE POINTS IN MORN TRADE

NEW YORK, Sept. 20—(UP)—Stocks rose one to more than three points during morning dealings today. Around noon the list dipped slightly from the best levels.

Prices moved higher after a strong, active opening under lead of automobile and steel shares. All sections participated, including railroad issues, which were bought on hopes U. S. government intervention would avert a general strike.

Chrysler touched 71½ up 2½; General Motors 46½ up 2½; Bethlehem 58½ up 2½; U. S. Steel 37½ up 2½; International Harvester 60 up 2; Santa Fe 32½ up 2; Anaconda 34½ up 1½; Montgomery Ward 46½ up 2½; and Westinghouse Electric 101½ up 2½. These prices were slightly lower around noon.

Eastman Kodak touched 172 up 5 and several other high priced issues made wide advances.

FOUCH HELD FOR JURY IN INTOXICATION CASE

James Fouch, 39, E. Ohio street, waived examination in police court Monday night, and was bound to the grand jury by Mayor W. B. Cady on a charge of driving when intoxicated. He was unable to furnish $500 bond and was sent to the county jail.

Jess Eby, 31, Lovers Lane, Monday denied a charge of theft involving a watch worth $18 belonging to George Smith, Barnes avenue. The hearing was delayed until Tuesday to call witnesses, Mayor Cady said.

PRAGUE FEARS NEW MINORITY FIGHT LOOMING

Poland And Hungary Take Steps To Claim
Parts Of Republic Removed After War;
British, French "Advice" Received

PRAGUE, Sept. 20—(UP)—The cabinet decided today to postpone its reply to Adolf Hitler's demand for cession of Sudeten German areas. The demand was transmitted by Britain and France with strong words of advice that it be accepted.

As the cabinet met to decide on accepting dismemberment of the country, its worries were multiplied by indications that Poland and Hungary were clamoring for freedom of their minorities, too, and laying claim to the districts partly populated by Poles and Magyars.

An official communique said the cabinet's final decision on Hitler's demands will be based on the result of diplomatic negotiations now under way, particularly with the British and French.

The communique said the diplomatic exchanges deal not only with the Czech minorities problem but also are aimed at clearing the slate of the entire European crisis.

Prague, the communique said, is negotiating "with all friendly states."

Contents Hinted

The communique declared the government's decision would "protect the life and interests of the nation and also the interests of the various national groups."

The latter statement implied consideration of the minority rights of others besides the Germans, without any thought as far-reaching as complete autonomy.

Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, flew yesterday to East Prussia to consult Hermann Wilhelm Goerring, Hitler's right hand man, and it was reported here that he would consult Hitler on Hungary's claims.

Countess Esterhazy, of the United Hungarian party, announced that she had telegraphed her thanks to Premier Benito Mussolini for his speech at Trieste in which he upheld the rights of all the minorities in Czechoslovakia.

Observers believed that if the Hungarian and Polish autonomy plans were pushed at this psychological moment, they might lead to Hungary's absorption of the Magyar's areas and Poland's annexation of a small border tract holding about 82,000 Poles.

Disintegration Feared

The cabinet thus was faced with the threat of disintegration of the post-war republic and the transformation of what is left of Czechoslovakia.

There was still hope of some miracle that might save it. Czechs were loath to believe that they had been condemned without a hearing by their friends and late allies. But no miracle was in sight today.

It was taken for granted that at Adolf Hitler's "Hill of the Gods" on the German Rhine probably tomorrow, he and Neville Chamberlain would agree to a (Continued on Page Two)

JURY TO PROBE GOV. CHANDLER POISONING CASE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 20—(UP)—Charges that Governor A. B. Chandler was poisoned July 21 by drinking water at a Louisville hotel after a speech in his unsuccessful campaign for the Democratic senatorial nomination will be investigated by a Jefferson county grand jury, starting Thursday.

Gov. Chandler and State Police Lieut. Jesse Wyatt will attend the hearing. Lieut. Wyatt and State Finance Commissioner J. Dan Talbott also were reported to have been victims of poisoning along with the governor. Talbott is still out of the state recuperating from his illness.

K. OF P. LODGE HAS HOMECOMING SERVICE MONDAY

Annual homecoming of Philos Lodge, N. 64, Knights of Pythias, was held Monday evening in the lodge rooms. A fair-sized crowd attended.

Motion pictures were shown by the order's Children's home at Springfield. The pictures showed the various activities and buildings of both children's home and the home for the aged.

Judge Meeker Terwilliger voiced reminiscences of the local lodge. Addresses were given by James Dunn, Cleveland, of the state tax commission, who is a past supreme chancellor and E. L. Jenkins, Columbus, past grand chancellor, on what fraternal organization means to a community and the duties and obligations of members of fraternal orders to the community. Visitors were called on for brief remarks by Turney Glick, master of ceremonies. Accordion and piano music was furnished by Hilaire Haenker.

Prize for the oldest member in point of membership in the lodge was given to C. E. Stevenson, S. Court street. Mr. Stevenson has been a member of the Circleville lodge since 1884. The youngest member was a Mr. Bumgardner, of Piketon, a member since March 1938.

BASEBALL GAMES POSTPONED
All baseball games involving Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Chicago, contenders for the National league title, Tuesday, were postponed because of rain and wet grounds. Doubleheaders are scheduled for Wednesday.

VOTERS OF FOUR STATES BALLOT IN PRIMARIES

Only Race Drawing Much Interest Is O'Connor's In New York

F. D. R. OPPOSES SOLO

LaFollette's Third Party Being Tested In Minor Contest

BY UNITED PRESS

Four states—New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, and Wisconsin—held primaries today, but in only one was there a race attracting nation interest.

That one was in New York City's 16th congressional district, where Rep. John J. O'Connor, chairman of the house rules committee, denounced by President Roosevelt as a traitor to the New Deal, and opposed by a candidate endorsed by Mr. Roosevelt, sought re-nomination. He also sought the Republican nomination.

O'Connor was the fourth of the four Democratic conservatives whom Mr. Roosevelt tried to defeat in primaries, to face his constituents. The others—Sen. Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina, and Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia all were renominated despite his opposition.

State Ballots

New York state voters also choose party candidates for congressional and county offices and also delegates to party conventions.

In Wisconsin, the primary voting for state offices may give an indication of the strength of Gov. Philip LaFollette and his new party, the National Progressives. He will seek a fourth term in November, facing a coalition of conservative Democrats and Republicans. His opponent today for the progressive gubernatorial nomination had no chance, but the number of votes he gets may indicate LaFollette's probable strength in November. Wisconsin also chose congressional nominees.

In Massachusetts, the chief interest was in the race between Gov. Charles F. Hurley and former Governor James M. Curley for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Both parties were choosing candidates for state and congressional offices, as they were in New Jersey.

HOW TO CARE FOR LAWN IN FALL SEASON OUTLINED

It is a good idea to pattern your seed sowing for your lawn after Nature who sows seed in the Fall. Since young grass can come only from seed, and lawns are mowed so close that seed never has a chance to develop, it is well to add some seed occasionally even to a well established lawn, in order to maintain its vigor.

At this time of year you may see a lot of Fall grass in your lawns. This is an annual and comes only where the lawn grass is not very good, so it is well to sow some good lawn seed in the patches of Fall grass which furnishes a crop of hardy grass which will come as the Fall grass freezes out. Fall sown lawn seed becomes established before the hot weather sets in and in almost all of it survives where Spring sown grass seed with its shallow roots fails to survive and by Spring the Fall sown seed will furnish plants that have stood out so that it is not necessary to use so much seed in Fall as in Spring. Although not very common, some folk sow lawn seed too thickly, especially when sowing bare spots in the lawn. The result is that if sown too thickly, the tiny grass plants crowd each other out and very few survive.

Seed sown after a rain is more likely to stay where it is sown than that sown before a rain, unless the latter is mulched with soil after being sown.

NINE KILLED AS 'CRACK' TRAINS CRASH IN WEST

One Missing, 40 Injured East Of Los Angeles In Early Morning

the siding waiting for the Argonaut to pass. The wreck occurred at about 5 a. m.

Dyer took charge of the rescue work and Pullman porters aided the injured from the coaches in the darkness.

The wreck occurred at the hamlet of Tortuga near the California-Arizona state line. Doctors and nurses were sent from Yuma, Ariz., and El Centro and Niland, Cal.

Dyer said some of the injured passengers were sent to Yuma aboard the undamaged cars of the Argonaut.

Coaches of the Californian which had not been derailed were sent in the other direction with other injured passengers and the bodies of the dead, he said.

About 40 Injured
"There seems to be about forty injured, some of them not hurt badly, however," said Dyer.

Dr. A. H. Foster of Brawley, Cal., said three of the dead were women and identified two of them as Mrs. G. A. Hall and Mrs. Emma Hall, Loma Linda, Cal. Both were decapitated.

He said the third dead woman was from New York. He did not know her name.

"It was terrible," Dr. Foster said. "It was the worst thing I ever saw. It was a big jam-up of railroad cars, with people pinned inside. One elderly woman was caught there, uninjured but calling for help. They had to use acetylene torches to cut her out.

"Injured passengers pinned inside the coaches were screaming. Rescuers were using acetylene torches to cut the steel of the cars and free them."

Dr. Foster said the two injured mail clerks were found when rescuers cut through the twisted steel plates and girders of the mail car.

PRIVATE RITES ARRANGED FOR BROADWAY STAR

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—(UP)—A private funeral in accordance with her wishes was arranged for Pauline Frederick, old-time Broadway and movie star.

Miss Frederick died at her aunt's home in Beverly Hills late yesterday of an asthmatic attack. She was 53.

For the last two years the actress' illness had prevented her from taking more than an occasional film role. She usually played the part of a mother. Last Friday she suffered an acute asthmatic attack but apparently was recovering until her sudden relapse yesterday.

A fire department rescuer worked over her for two hours in an attempt to restore respiration. Dr. J. J. Kirchoff, attending physician, said no autopsy would be held.

The last years of her life, rich with success and fame, were none to happy. She dropped from stardom in the movies after an attempt to organize her own film-producing unit. Col. Joseph A. Marmon, her fifth husband and to whom she ascribed the "only true happiness I've known," died in 1934. A year ago her mother died, and then her own illness developed.

Miss Frederick was born in Boston.

the storm's approach to the islands. Frantic preparations to meet the storm had been made throughout the area. Caribbean airplanes had been grounded, small ships beached, building signs and awnings removed and windows boarded up.

Florida's disaster relief units had been mobilized, coast guard boats dispatched to warn the residents of isolated settlements. A CCC camp in the Florida keys was evacuated, the 175 men moved to naval buildings in Key West. Convicts of the Belle Glade prison farm in the Lake Okeechobee lowlands, were moved to Fort Meyers. The Bahamas had expected to get the center of the storm last night and the Florida coast this morning. Word that it had shifted directions came from ships in the area to the federal hurricane warning system.

"This change in direction has greatly lessened the threat to Florida," an advisory said. "While this is reassuring, we urge that you stand by for another 12 hours."

WOMAN WINS PAROLE

Mrs. Eva Jackson, former resident of near Whisler, will be paroled from the women's reformatory at Marysville, Oct. 1. She was sent to the reformatory Sept. 15, 1937 on a charge of receiving articles stolen from a Ross county home. The sentence was one to seven years.

WALNUT 4-H CLUB

The Walnut Cracker-Jacks, 4-H club held its ninth meeting of the year at the home of John and Richard Noecker, Thursday, Sept. 15.

Before the meeting, some of the boys had a boxing match. During the meeting the boys worked on their books. The next meeting will be held Thursday, Oct. 6, at the home of Charles Sark.

Refreshments were served after the meeting by Mrs. Noecker.

PRAGUE FEARS NEW MINORITY FIGHT LOOMING

great part of the Sudeten area from Czechoslovakia and give it to Germany, and leave the rest of the republic, enucleated, nominally sovereign, but actually autonomous and under German suzerainty.

Dreams, Hopes Gone
With Sudeten Germany goes the French dream of a "cordon sanitaire" to keep the German war machine within its boundaries for ever. With it goes the Sudetic defense line on which Czechoslovakia spent tens of millions of dollars, to keep its part of its defensive alliance with France. It wanted no war. With it go the industries of the Sudeten area and possibly as much as 40 percent of the national income.

For the future, Czechs said today, they are to be a toy state, dismembered, unable to enjoy foreign relations if it wanted to, under complete domination politically, militarily, economically, of the Germans.

It was reported today that the cabinet, accepting the Hitler-Chamberlain-Daladier plan in principle, might resign. In that event, it seemed likely that there would be a military dictatorship for a time under Gen. Ludvik Krejci, commander in chief of the army.

May Call Parliament

It was reported also that the government intended, immediately after making its decision public, to summon a special session of parliament.

For the first time yesterday, Czechs began really to believe that they had been deserted not only by Great Britain, of whose "aid" they had been somewhat suspicious from the first, but by their allies, France and Russia.

Within less than 24 hours the government's own reaction had gone through six stages which showed just what had happened: 1) unofficial reports of the Chamberlain-Daladier conference at London were denied Sunday night; 2) scepticism was expressed Monday that any reports of the dismemberment agreement could be correct; 3) official readiness was expressed to fight for every inch of the country's territory, in the belief that Russia, if not France, would be steadfast; 4) with reluctance Czechs realized that Russia as well as French and British aid was beyond hope; 5) the government began a practical study of the dismemberment plan in view of the completely changed situation; 6) the cabinet indicated that it must accept the plan, under protest.

Hope persisted that by accepting in principle, and fighting diplomatically against every concession, the extent of the catastrophe might be minimized.

But it was felt that the country, as it was conceived, was ruined.

Open to Attackers

Its defenses gone, it would lie open for any attacker to reduce at his leisure.

Politically, it would be at Germany's mercy; it could no longer do anything against Germany's wishes. From a key state, the central European bulwark against Germany, where Slavic and German civilizations were to merge, but did not, it would be faced with a future in which its wishes amounted to nothing outside its own reduced borders.

Economically, with the Sudeten area go the country's most highly industrialized sections—the world famous Bohemian glassware factories, textile factories, woodwork factories. Its natural resources include lead, mercury, radium, timber, hops.

And Czechs asked what next?

STEEL INDUSTRY NEARS 50 PERCENT OF OUTPUT

YOUNGSTOWN, Sept. 20.—(UP)—For the first time since last December steel output in the Mahoning valley today reached 48 percent and was well on the way to 50 percent.

The 50 percent operating rate for the next six weeks was expected. With the addition of an open hearth furnace at Republic Steel's Lansingville plant there were 44 active of 83 in the district. Youngstown Sheet and Tube suspended a Bessemer plant and Republic's Bessemer was operating about 35 percent while the Ohio works Bessemer unit was at about 30 percent.

As soon as new prices are announced, finishing mill operations may improve at the end of the week or next week.

Chamberlain And Hitler To Confer In Godesberg Probably Wednesday

to go to Godesberg tomorrow, and there communicate his own decision and that of the French government, even if no formal answer was received from Prague of the British-French appeal for acceptance.

It was understood, that Chamberlain was planning, on his return from Germany, to summon parliament in extraordinary session probably next Tuesday, Sept. 27.

Thus he would be able, in explaining why he and Premier Edouard Daladier agreed to aid Hitler in his plan to dismember Czechoslovakia to hold forth hope of a real consolidation of peace. But there was an undercurrent of anger in London and the country generally which made it certain that he would not go unchallenged, even though he was certain of parliamentary support.

It was learned in a most reliable quarter today that ordinary members of the parliament had been advised that Winston Churchill, disaffected conservative leader, and Anthony Eden, who resigned as foreign secretary because of the government's policy of giving in to the totalitarian rulers, were considering a joint attack in which they would have the support not only of the labor and liberal opposition but of some conservative members of the house of commons.

Would their allies and friends next offer Poland and other countries some of the residue left from their negotiations with Germany? Would Poland get the Silesian mines, the richest coal mines in the country?

Martial Law Declared In Three More Sudeten Districts

dispatch from Schmiedeberg that nine Sudetens, still dressed in Czech army uniforms after deserting to Germany, and equipped with Czech arms, attacked a Czech frontier customs house with hand grenades.

It was said that the Sudetens crept up on the customs house in Indian fashion, tossed grenades at it, killed a customs man, and captured a gendarme and a customs official who fled from the building as it burst into flames from the grenade explosions.

The gendarme was alleged to have fired on Sudeten refugees, fleeing to Germany, and it was asserted that another group of Czechs, carrying machine guns, fired on refugees at 4:30 a. m. and then retired further into Czech territory.

It was reported by the agency that three women and two children were wounded by Czech fire.

As these incidents were added to the blast of anti-Czech articles in newspapers, it was asserted officially that 102,000 Sudeten Germans had now found refuge in Germany.

It was asserted that among the refugees were 14 gendarmes in full uniform, including nine of Czech nationality, one Slovak and only four Sudetens.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS COACHES, PLANS FESTIVAL

Roy Black, Tom Armstrong
Praise High School
Boys

CONCERTS OPEN OCT. 3

Slate Nominated For Next
Meeting

Kiwanians, Monday evening, heard interesting talks by Coaches Roy M. Black and Tom Armstrong, started a concentrated effort to sell tickets to a concert series which is being conducted the first four Mondays in October for the benefit of the underprivileged children's fund, and considered nominations for office. The club met at the Pickaway Country Club, dinner being served at 6:30 o'clock.

The high school coaches expressed confidence in the future of Circleville high school athletics, both agreeing that improvement is certain in the next year or two.

"Circleville's boys are fine young Americans," Coach Black said, "just as good as you can find anywhere. We are getting our squad adapted to the system we favor and before long I feel certain that you will note much improvement." The mentor praised Coach Armstrong for his ability as an assistant and in turn heard the assistant coach praise him for his love of the boys.

Four Events Planned

The Kiwanis Club is presenting the Collins Festival, four weekly events, starting Monday, Oct. 3, in the high school auditorium. Tickets are available from all Kiwanians.

The first number is the Rufus Rose Marionettes, presenting "Hansel and Gretel." The marionettes appeared seven times daily at the Century of Progress in Chicago.

The second night, Oct. 10, comes Robert Zimmerman, famed deep sea diver. His presentation is entitled "Up from the Bottom of the Sea." Mr. Zimmerman tells of sharks and barracuda, long-lost wrecks, under-water flower gardens and numerous other things. His collection of curios is famous throughout the world. Mr. Zimmerman has won 333 national championships in swimming, diving and canoeing. He was a member of the 1908 and 1912 Canadian swimming teams in the Olympics.

On Oct. 17 the Bessie Andrus players appear in a Strauss play. The play features much music from Strauss' compositions. Miss Andrus is known as a singing violinist. She has appeared as soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra. The tenor in the company is Leonard Balsamo, winner of a scholarship to study with Mary Garden. The pianist is Sidney Stafford, a pupil of Leon Rosenbloom.

Comedy Ends Series

The final number is a Broadway comedy, "Mary's Other Husband." The play includes three acts of rollicking, tempestuous comedy. The cast includes five persons.

All profits from the concert series will go into the club's fund which provides many necessities to city and county underprivileged youngsters.

The nominating committee, comprised of E. A. Brown, C. E. Hill and Glen Gelb, announced selection of the following for offices, subject to the election Oct. 3: president, Virgil Cress and Dan McClain; vice president, Erwin Leist and Wendell Boyer; directors, (six to be elected), Herschel Hill, Paul D. Miller, Charles Radcliff, Luther Bower, John H. Dun-

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU BY BOB BURNS

To read some of the speeches about how big business is being abused, you'd think that this is the first time in history when people have not been sympathetic with corporations. When I was a boy down home, the only corporation we knew of was the railroad, and every time the circuit court convened, there would be at least a dozen cases where farmers was suin' the railroad company for runnin' over a town.

I remember one time when the railroad lawyer got up to plead his case, he noticed there were only eleven men in the jury. When he spoke to the judge about it, one of the jurymen got up and says, "That's all right, judge, don't worry about it—Bill Hooks had to go home and tend to a sick hog, but he left his verdict with me."

Family, Friends Surprise Minister in Mansfield

By S. D. FRIDLEY
Phone Ashville 79

At the First Lutheran church in Mansfield, Ohio, Sunday, Sept. 18, was to be "Surprise Sunday" in both church and Sunday school. The Sunday school board in thinking of some plan to surprise their pastor, Dr. G. Elmer Swoyer, and which has been hard to do, thought to invite members of his family on this Sunday. So Harry Wolfe, chairman, sent an invitation for some of his Ashville home family relatives to be present on this Surprise Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Martin and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bowers, both ladies sisters of Dr. Swoyer, accepted the invitation. The plan worked fine, as Dr. Swoyer and family were completely surprised. Other surprises were on different teachers of the classes and a pantomime of The Ten Virgins was given by a girls' class. The visiting guests were entertained to dinner with their brother's family and members of the Board.

Working a day ahead of time sometimes is a good thing to do and works out fine, and so it was yesterday with the big lot of pumpkins brought in to the cannery. The beginning was not to have been until Tuesday, but why wait when the big yellow "fruit of the field vine" was there ready and waiting to give somebody that first piece of 1938 pumpkin pie. So all hands got busy on the washing and polishing process and pumpkin faces shone as they never had before. Today the "heat is on" and if you must have that first

RADER'S ACTION FOR $2,014 ENDS IN SETTLEMENT

Developments occurred rapidly Monday in the trial of the civil action of J. C. Rader, Circleville, against P. J. Burke, Washington C. H. The case involved commissions on monument sales.

Twenty persons were sent home in the forenoon when a jury was waived and the case was to be presented to Judge Meeker Terwilliger. Testimony was taken up to the noon recess. In the afternoon a conference was held with the parties involved and the attorneys and a settlement reached resulting in the case being dismissed, costs paid, and no record.

The original suit asked $2,014.73. Since the action was filed some commissions were paid. It was reliably reported the action was settled for $725.24 with the parties dividing costs.

Next case scheduled in Common Pleas court will be next Monday when jurors will return to hear the action of Phoebe Timmons, Mt. Sterling, against the Industrial Commission, an appeal to participate in the state insurance fund.

lap, Sr., Carl Bennett, H. H. McKee, Joe Burns, Renick Dunlap, Don Walker, George Myers, and Robert H. Terhune. The new officers will take over their duties Jan. 1.

St. Louis Union Czar Murdered

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20—(UP)—Arthur Schading, 51, czar of the St. Louis electrical trade unions and principal figure in a tangle of disputes in the union field, was assassinated by two men late last night as he stepped from his union headquarters.

John Thompson, a union member, was with Schading when he was killed. They had just left Union hall after a business meeting when the gunmen approached them from the rear, riddled Schading's head and body with 12 slugs, then fled. Thompson said he had not obtained a description of the killers other than to notice that they had been masked.

"I was so scared I couldn't do a thing," he said.

Police said a woman passerby, whose name they withheld, also had witnessed the slaying.

Death Weapon Found

The shots attracted two policemen. They found one of the death weapons—a .32 caliber pistol—in a lot behind the hall.

A coroner's physician said Schading also had been shot with .45 caliber bullets.

Schading was business agent of four locals of the Electrical Workers' union, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, and had been involved in recent months in an intra-union dispute.

Asst. Police Chief Andrew Ayleward said a faction in the union had been opposed to Schading and the manner in which he ruled union affairs.

Schading won re-election by only one vote a month ago. The night of the election, David A. Jones, union president, was severely beaten on the street by two Negroes. The union has offered a $1,000 reward for capture of his attackers.

International officials of the union came here last week to attempt to settle the intra-union differences but left apparently without having effected a compromise.

Ayleward said Schading also had been involved in disputes with other unions. He assumed control of the Phonograph Workers' union a few weeks ago and recently was involved in a fight for control of the teamsters union, Ayleward said.

August Loepker, Schading's stepson and assistant business agent of the electrical union, was taken into custody for questioning but said he could throw no light on the slaying. He was expected to be released within a few hours.

No Threats Heard

Schading's wife said he had received no threats against his life. "Anyway," she said, "he wasn't afraid of anything."

Schading had a lengthy police record. He had been arrested 21 times for questioning in cases ranging from traffic violations to murders but had never been convicted. Last Spring he was acquitted on a charge of having attempted to extort $2,000 from Harry Wendt, Kirkwood, Mo., theatre owner, who charged that Schading had asked the sum to place the theatre on the union's "accredited" list and arrange for installation of wiring.

Schading was the second business agent of the union to die by assassins' bullet.

John Farrell, business agent of the union for many years, was shot and killed on a street in 1922 under circumstances similar to Schading's death. His slaying has never been solved.

GREENO DIVORCE ASKED

Mrs. Ora Florence Greeno filed suit for divorce in Common Pleas court, Monday, against Elmer LeRoy Greeno, Circleville Route 3, charging neglect of duty. Mrs. Greeno asks alimony and that her maiden name of Ariedge be restored. They were married March 25, 1937 in Circleville.

Radio's ace racket-buster, Edward G. Robinson, returns to the kilocycles with his "Big Town" series, over CBS tonight at 7 p. m. He will be supported by lovely Claire Trevor. In this series Robinson portrays a crusading managing editor who is out to reform the city in which his paper is published. Miss Trevor acts as Lorelei, his society editor, who is in love with her boss. As Steve Wilson, boss of the "Illustrated Press," Robinson will continue to hammer away at such things as dog racing, real estate swindles, ambulance chasing and reckless driving. Clark Andrews, recently married to Miss Trevor, will direct "Big Town."

OAKIE HECKLES BURNS

That old vaudeville pal of Bob Burns, Jack Oakie, will drop around to heckle the Sage of Van Buren at the Music Hall show Thursday. Other guests are Cecilia Parker, of the movies, and Ann De Ohio, who can sing soprano, contralto, tenor or baritone with equal ease.

Bob Burns will preside over the full hour frivolity with the Four-some, the Paul Taylor Chorus and Johnny Scott Trotter's orchestra also present for the broadcast over the NBC red network at 9 p. m.

Jack Oakie never played in the same act with Bob Burns on the stage but these two were touring the variety circuits at the same time and their lusty give and take makes highly amusing listening.

Cecilia Parker is a Canadian girl who studied for grand opera but slipped into movie stardom as a result of her dramatic abilities.

WELL-GOVERNED TOWNS

KALAMAZOO, Mich., takes a bow. A Hollywood movie producer who wanted to copy a model town asked a group of political scientists which was the best-governed town in the United States. They were asked to limit their search to communities of about 50,000 population.

Men from the Universities of Michigan, Illinois, Chicago, Southern California, California, Pennsylvania, New York and Minnesota made the study that resulted in the choice of Kalamazoo as best-governed, with Winnetka, Ill., East Cleveland, O., and Austin, Texas following in that order.

That is a title worth striving for. The cities named may well feel proud. The political scientists, however, should not stop with naming the town. Citizens of a great many other communities now want to know all about the government of the happy four, their taxes, schools, community activities, and all the rest.

SIX MILES A MINUTE

THOSE two British daredevils who are fighting it out on the Utah salt flats with their freak racing automobiles got the record up to six miles a minute on September 16. Covering the measured mile at that incredible rate, Capt. Eyston recaptured the title he had lost the day before to John Cobb.

The speed duel began on August 27. On that date Eyston broke the record he himself had established the year before. The increase was 37.29 miles an hour. Then Cobb got busy, pushing the speed up again, achieving a rate of 350.2 miles per hour. Eyston wiped out that mark with his six miles a minute.

There will not be many more chances for these rivals to shatter each other's records this year. Autumn rains spoil the salt flats for this sort of motoring. There will doubtless be other attempts next year, with the same men or new contenders, with new or more fantastic speed machines.

What's it all about and where does it get them? It's a thrill for drivers and spectators and a triumph for the designers and manufacturers of the cars with their amazing engines, tires and other special equipment. But like Alice and the Red Queen they go awfully fast without getting anywhere.

Those Czechs don't take any bogus checks from Hitler.

Loud auto horns cause more accidents than they avoid, says Mayor La Guardia of New York. There's no sense in using 'em to scare people. We might have a phonograph horn saying softly "Please look out!"

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up to a beautiful crisp morning. Kindled a fire in the grate and sat in its comforting warmth reading the morning prints until coffee call. Found the news largely a rehash of the day before, nothing of importance having developed over the night. Europe still on the verge of war and the Cincinnati Reds still marooned by floods. Out, then, and about the village, exchanging horn greetings with Dr. Shane and waving to Bob Anderson, who is much engaged right now denying a rumor that he intends leaving the village. That report springs up every now and then and is entirely without foundation of fact.

Wonder how many folk remember the great runaway day in the village? That was a lot of years ago. Maurice Reiche bought a horse guaranteed as gentle. It was, except that it enjoyed running, being a former race horse. Maurice and his wife went riding and on East Main street their steed apparently heard someone say "Go," for he took off in a hurry. Maurice left the vehicle on one side, Mrs. Reiche on the other. The horse headed East and in high gear. He ran out of street after a while, turned and headed back, turning North on Court street. His light wagon struck one being driven by Lou Fohl, but not until after Lou had sensed danger and departed suddenly. Lou's horse ran away and headed East on Main street. The Reiche racer continued North on Court street to the Ringgold pike where it struck and touched off a farmer's team that ran South on Court. The farm team struck Mrs. Hurdle's horse and it also ran away. There was real excitement that I would have enjoyed seeing, for always did I get a thrill out of a runaway.

James Metzbaum, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, dropped in for a visit, being in this part of the state from Cleveland. Jim has devoted most of the last 16 years to public service, and for it all, he accepts no pay, generally indorsing his checks to charity organizations. Only one other politician like that have I known. He was Ben Bosse, mayor of Evansville, Ind., who for a dozen years turned over to the park fund his annual salary of $10,000. Jim makes friends wherever he goes and should have not too much difficulty in winning the Fall election.

In the afternoon did accept Carl Hunter's invitation for a buggy trip into the country. Ended up in the London district, where Carl was born and reared and learned much about the territory and its early landowners. Then learned something else for the first time. Carl was making the trip after dynamite. And all the way back I sat alongside 50 pounds of 60 per cent dynamite and with 100 detonators in my lap. And how Carl chuckled over that one.

Maybe it had some connection; maybe not, but I told Carl a story about a Negro taking his first plane ride at a county fair. The aviator put the plane through everything he knew, then levelled off and told his passenger: "I'll bet half those people down there thought we were going to be killed." The Negro said: "Mister, that's nothin'. Half of us up here thought the same thing."

TO CLOSE EXCHANGES

WASHINGTON—Under a secret plan hastily formulated in the last few days, the Government is prepared to set up a national financial control instantly upon the outbreak of war in Europe.

Made up of officials of the Treasury, RFC, SEC, and Federal Reserve Board, the new agency would assume emergency powers over all stock exchanges and banks in order to prevent a disastrous selling wave of public and private securities by foreign holders.

It is estimated that foreign holdings in U. S. stocks and bonds are between three and five billion dollars. Any large portion of this dumped on the market would blow the bottom out of prices and create havoc throughout the country.

Under the secret plan two drastic measures would be taken to forestall this: (1) temporary shutdown of all stock exchanges, (2) creation of a pool for the orderly disposal of foreign security holdings.

NOW—OR LATER?

The anti-trust probes are secretly divided on whether to launch their public expose of monopolistic practices this Fall or to hold off until Congress convenes early next year.

The Justice Department and Securities-Exchange Commission are vigorously urging early action. Investigations they have undertaken are well advanced and they will be ready to hold public hearings by November 1 at the latest.

Justice is working on glass patents and the oil industry, the SEC on insurance companies and interlocking directorates. Both agencies have subpoenaed the records of a large number of corporations and banks. Staffs of experts are assembling evidence which eventually will be aired in public hearings.

The other four departments participating in the probe—Treasury, Commerce, Labor and the Federal Trade Commission—also have staffs working on special investigations. But some of these agencies, plus certain congressional members of the committee, oppose public hearings this Fall.

Under their plan public action would not be started until Congress meets, then continued for several months until each of the six agencies had presented the cases it had prepared. After that a preliminary report would be made to Congress and additional funds sought to continue the probe.

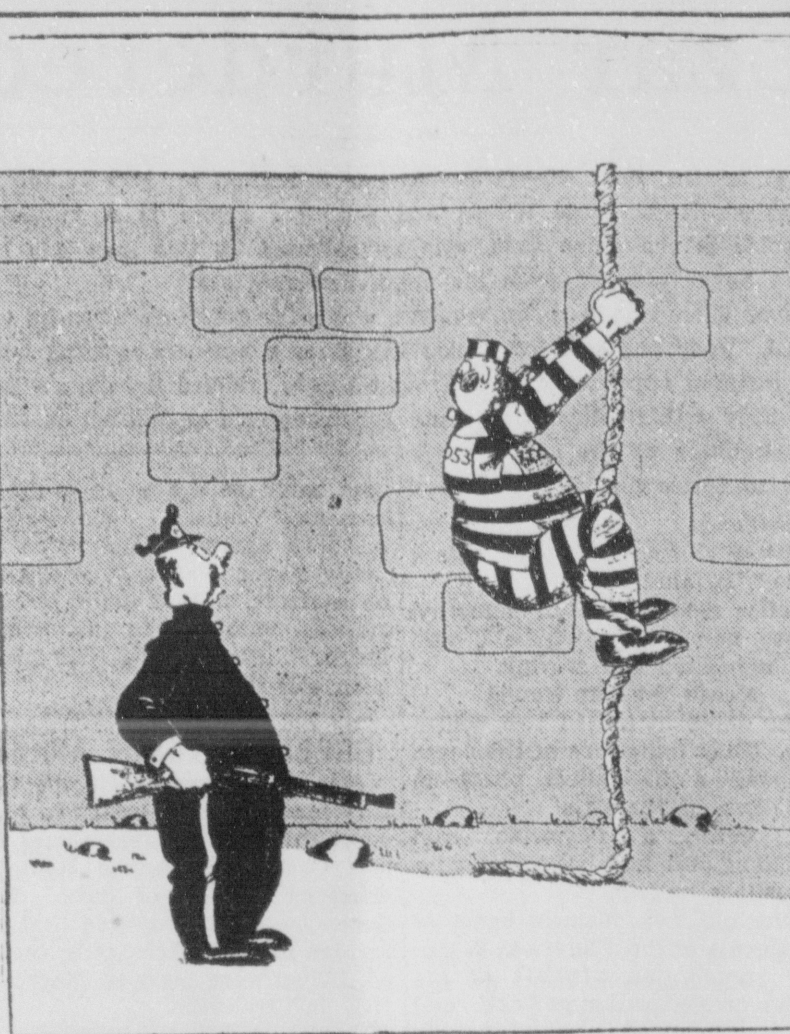

The SEC and Justice Department approve the latter suggestion, but they contend that the committee should start its batteries barking at the earliest possible moment in order to demonstrate that it really means business.

"War has no victor," says Secretary Hull. Sure enough! Remember how the Allies thought they won the World War?

Effect of Different Forms of Infection on Body

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
BESIDES LOCALIZED infection of one part of the body—for instance, a boil; and generalized infection of the body—for instance, typhoid fever—both of which we have considered in the articles this week, there are certain infections that do neither one thing or the other. They are known among pathologists as the specific granulomata. One example is syphilis. The best example is tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis is both a generalized infection and a localized infection. It changes from time to time in its course from one to the other. The tubercle bacilli may invade the blood stream and go all over the body and then suddenly congregate in one spot, and set up a localized inflammation.

Let us try to understand what the pathologists mean by a specific granuloma. The specific granuloma of tuberculosis is the tubercle. It was called that because that is exactly what it looks like. The dictionary says that a tubercle is a knotted excrescence on an animal or plant. To the naked eye a tubercle—say in the lung—is a small white nodule or spot. It looks somewhat like a small seed—in fact, one form of tuberculosis—miliary tuberculosis—was named after millet seeds.

To the naked eye it looks like that, but when seen under the microscope it presents typically a very characteristic arrangement. There is a large cell in the center surrounded by two zones of smaller cells. This tubercle was the only way there was of recognizing the disease before the time when the cause was discovered. So it was called the specific granuloma. It is specific to the disease, and it is a granuloma because it is a localized inflammatory lesion.

Another form of infection which presents special features is infection by animal parasites. The bacteria are classified as of the vegetable kingdom. But organisms such as the malarial plasmodium and the amoeba are animals. Against them the body offers very little defense. It is unable to destroy them as it does bacteria, and it produces no antibodies to combat their poison, as it does in the case of bacterial infection. I have known cases of malarial infection to recur year after year, twenty times or more, with no diminution in vigor. The malarial plasmodium stays in the body in such cases and seems to hibernate, to arouse itself every once in awhile.

But man's ingenuity has supplied what the body lacks in such forms of infection. The animal parasites are far easier killed off by drugs and chemicals. Thus for malaria we have quinine, for amoebic infection ipecac, for syphilis salvarsan.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

LOSE THE FIRST TRICK

EVEN WHEN you have both the ace and king of the suit led, your no trump game contract may depend upon allowing the defenders to win the very first trick. Offhand it would seem to make no difference whether you use the hold-up on the second trick, winning the first and third, or on the first one, winning the next two. On occasional hands, though, it means the difference between blocking the 'ces' suit and letting them run it.

The bidding on this deal was started by North with 1-Club. South responded with 1-No Trump, which North raised to 2-No Trump, and South went to 3-No Trump.

The spade 4 was led by West and South figured that with two stoppers in the suit it did not matter whether he won the first trick or held up until the second. He went right in with the A and led a club. East won and returned the spade 10 and when South did not cover with the K, West did with his J to play a third spade. Then when South attempted to drive out the high club, West cashed his remaining two spades.

A different situation results if South refuses the first spade trick. Then when he tries the clubs, if East wins he is unable to lead another spade and if West takes the first club trick, his suit has not yet been cleared.

AFRAID TO MARRY

HELEN WELSHIMER

Written for and Released by
CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

Judy Rogers, New York heiress, whose father has been wiped out by a financial crash, finally lands a job as a social secretary to the wealthy Abbey Boland. Heart-broken because Craig Denby, the man she loved, married another girl, she finds herself becoming interested in Ronald Rogers, brilliant young attorney from Tennessee who recently joined the firm of her father's lawyers. Judy's father had gone west with her stepmother while her own mother, recently widowed, is abroad. When Craig and his bride have a misunderstanding, it is Judy who brings them together. Abbey is making preparations for her marriage to a count. Judy observes that Ronald, one of the many guests at the Boland estate, takes an unusual interest in Abbey's affairs.

CHAPTER 21

THE LIBRARY of the Boland home was a long, comfortable room. Its wide windows gave a sweeping view of the gray waters of the sound on the Sunday afternoon that Judy arranged the flowers and candles on the low table near the mammoth fireplace. There were tall autumn flowers, lavish with golds and oranges and yellows, everywhere. And books . . .

She caught her breath. The room reminded her of the great library in her father's house where the paneled cases marched sedately along the three walls, and the fireplace, on the fourth wall, was flanked with them, too. She remembered that she would not see that room again. The house had been sold for debts. She wondered, for a fleeting moment, in what kind of rooms her father and Sarita were living. Not that it mattered. Her path had left theirs as completely as though the two roads had been cardboard stuff, and a pair of gigantic scissors had severed them.

Judy's brown eyes were a little misty when the door opened and her low voice wasn't quite steady as she spoke.

"It's such a lovely room, Miss Boland," she said wistfully. "I used to know one like it."

Abbey Boland had been riding, though it was late afternoon. Her face was frosty. Plainly she had not enjoyed a pleasant drive. She saw the beautiful candles that Judy brought from abroad and her purple eyes narrowed.

"But, Miss Rogers, I can't accept them."

"I wish you would. After all, a candle is meant to shine, and they have to melt sometime. They are nicer than the blue."

Reluctantly the violet eyes widened. "Yes, they are better. But you'll have to let me pay for them."

"I couldn't do that. Let it be my contribution to the tea, please."

The wide eyes measured Judy—the slender, poised figure, the shining brown hair whose curls clustered at the nape of a white neck, steady brown eyes, tilted nose.

They noticed the soft folds of green-grey velvet that made her long tea gown, and the Florentine cross and chain around her neck. Judy did not move.

Then Abbey smiled. It was a swift, radiant smile, as though the sun had broken through gray clouds.

"Thank you. I like them, too."

When the wealthy girl had gone, Judy strolled to the nearest book shelves. "She decided that I'd serve her purpose better as an ally," she told herself. "Keep your mind on your work, Judy, my child. All you want is your salary. It won't be long. You're leaving when the contest ends—"

The contest! Maybe she wouldn't win. No, she wouldn't even think that. She had to win! She took a book.

Then she gasped. It wasn't a book. It was camouflage. An empty box, painted to represent a book, was in her hand. Quickly she reached to replace it. A low, mocking laugh sounded just beyond her. She whirled swiftly.

"I'm sorry I frightened you," the count's cool voice apologized. "Finding an interesting book?"

Judy stood before the shelves, hands behind her, as though she guarded a mountain pass or a secret door.

"I was just waiting for the guests to come down."

"You've given me an idea. I should take some books upstairs," Count Philippe chattered on. "There are new novels by the dozens but I prefer something that's stood the test of time. Do you like de Maupassant? Voltaire?"

He made some pertinent remarks about books and authors which caused Judy to look at him with new respect. He wasn't just a playboy. He couldn't be.

The talk drifted to poetry. He recited a few lines.

"They're beautiful," Judy exclaimed. "I don't know them. Who's the author?"

He didn't answer. The deep, musical voice went on with the poem, playing with the lyrical cadences.

"Where may I find it?" Judy asked softly.

"You can't, Miss Rogers. It's something of my own."

"You write poetry?"

"Now and then. A few have made the magazines abroad. And my book—" He shrugged. "It sold 239 copies. But it's a good book." His eyes twinkled.

The majority couldn't grasp it. The 150 copies left. They make nice gifts for a week-end hostess. I carry a few along. Maybe I'll present you with one."

"No one knows you write—I'm sorry—I mean I didn't know it."

"No need to qualify the sentence. Only a few have been told. I write under another name when I do it. It's been a long time, a year or so, since I've tried. You see, 239 copies are not conducive to a literary future."

The sea cracked. The sea cast forth its blues and greens and violets in the drifted haze. Dusk came quickly, and a maid drew the heavy velvet curtains which shut out the night and the long stretch of gray water. Guests began to come.

Judy forgot the count as she poured tea, asked about lemon and cream and sugar, said polite words and smiled polite smiles. She was disturbingly aware that the count's dark, amused eyes were on her face often. With almost a sense of guilt, she realized that she had not been watching for Ronald. Where was he? For that matter where was Abbey?

The grandfather clock, at a far end of the hall beyond, chimed once—waited 15 minutes and checked on the passing hour again. The count's interest no longer intrigued her. She wanted Ronald to come. The depth of her interest startled her.

"Steady, Judy Rogers," she whispered to herself. "Don't misread directions. He's being kind to you, that's all. And anyway, love is as thin as a snowflake. Pour tea, laugh, drop in two lumps, ask about lemon—don't be a fool!"

But her heart quivered whenever there were steps at the door of the room, and her eyes swept the entrance hopefully. Guests were drifting away to dress for dinner when Ronald and Abbey came. They made their apologies. Ronald's eyes were warm and friendly, and he paused by Judy's side.

Abbey moved among the people, sweet and gay and lovely, the petulant lines of her face relaxed and erased.

"She's happy because she has been with Ronald," Judy perceived. "She is falling in love with him. But she wants to marry a count. She thinks she can have both—love and a title. And Ronald doesn't understand. But the count does. His eyes aren't missing anything. He won't care, though. He just wants the Boland money, so he can slide from polo ponies and write books that nobody reads."

Judy felt tired. She wanted to get away.

When the count came back to the table, with an empty cup as an excuse for his presence, she took it silently. He spoke in a low tone:

"Don't be afraid. Your red-headed hero is being kind, that's all."

"He isn't my red-headed hero and I don't care what he's being. I should think that would be your worry. It's your girl he was with."

"Oh, you don't know Abbey. She flutters hither and yon. But she comes back."

Then the titled guest strolled to another section of the book shelves. Judy caught her breath. He didn't know that imitation volumes were on the racks. Such a public humiliation as he might inflict, unconsciously, on the Bolands, would be hard to forgive. She waited, eyes on the long nervous fingers that reached for a volume.

The count took it from its shelf, turned it over, looked up with puzzled eyes. The room was still. He said nothing, but began to put it back. Abbey spoke quickly.

"Oh, how stupid of me not to have warned you. We are having most of our books rebound and the bindery sent some dummies until they come back next week."

Mustn't forget to check on that order for you," Ronald said clearly in the ensuing silence. "It's my fault—I overlooked it."

There had been no order, Judy knew. So Ronald was so enamored he would play at pretenses to save the glittering-haired girl—to save her for another man!

Williamsport Club To Present F. R. Harris

Nov. 21 Chosen For Open House

Social Calendar

The Sorosis club of Williamsport made plans at its session, Monday night, for an open meeting, which will be held in the school auditorium, Monday, Nov. 21. At this time F. R. Harris of Greenfield will speak on his recent trip through England.

The club meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Wells Wilson, Williamsport, with 31 members and three guests present. The guests included Mrs. Wendell Boyer, Mrs. Clarence Radcliff and Miss Margaret McCollister.

The session was called to order by Mrs. William Radcliff, president, who presided during the business session. Mrs. Wilson, secretary, and Mrs. Kenneth List, treasurer, gave their monthly reports. Plans were completed for the bingo party which will be held in the pavilion, Wednesday, Sept. 28, at 8 o'clock. It was decided to make the November meeting an open session in order that everyone might have the privilege of hearing the guest speaker.

Mrs. William Schleich was program leader for the evening and read an interesting and instructive pamphlet on "Cancer and Its Control". At the close of the reading, Mrs. Schleich told many facts pertaining to the subject which she had gleaned through research.

During the social hour, Mrs. Wilson, assisted by Mrs. Howard Nessel and Mrs. Charles Rose, served refreshments.

When the club meets for its session, Monday, Oct. 17, Miss Laura McGhee will be hostess.

Harpster-Strawser Reunion

C. F. Luckhart was chosen president of the association when the Harpster-Strawser reunion was held at Stoutsville camp-ground, Sunday. Miss Mary Harpster was named vice president; C. F. Jones, secretary-treasurer.

Forty-eight relatives and guests were present at this fourth annual reunion of the families. Following a delightful dinner at noon, a short business session was held. The oldest person present was Mrs. Susan Jennings of Columbus and the youngest was little Patricia Ann Dumas of Circleville.

Guests were present from Columbus, Marion, Kingston, Circleville, Colerain and Stoutsville.

Mrs. Chalfin Entertains

Mrs. George Forster and Miss Lillian Young joined the players for the evening when Mrs. C. G. Chalfin, E. Main street, entertained her bridge club, Monday.

Confections were served at the tables where the evening was passed playing progressive contract bridge.

With high score tallies, Miss Young and Mrs. Floyd Hook took the prizes.

Mrs. Henry Joseph will entertain the next session of the club.

County W. C. T. U.

Pickaway County Women's Christian Temperance Union will hold its annual convention, Friday, Sept. 30, in the Methodist Episcopal church, Circleville, beginning at 10 a. m. The meetings will continue through the day.

Dinner will be served at noon by the Ladies' Aid society of the church.

There will be an executive session at 1 p. m. at which all county officers, county directors of departments and local presidents should be present.

Mrs. Viola D. Romans, president of Ohio W. C. T. U., will be a guest and the speaker of the day.

All officers and members of Unions are requested to attend and friends of the cause are invited.

P. T. A. TO BUY EQUIPMENT FOR SCHOOL GROUND

At the September session of Washington Parent-Teacher association, Monday evening, at the school, it was decided to purchase playground equipment for the school's playground.

Howard Huston, president, presided at the business session with 50 present. Group singing and prayer opened the session.

It was decided that the association would not affiliate with the State and National organizations this year. In addition to the playground equipment, it was decided that the society should purchase tables and dishes for the school.

It was also arranged that the Parent-Teacher association should continue to sponsor the hot lunches for the school and Mrs. Loring List, who efficiently handled the work last year, was hired for the ensuing year.

The award for the best attendance at the P. T. A. meeting was won by Oakley Leist's room with the largest percent of parents present. It was decided to give these awards for the ensuing year.

The program hour in charge of Mrs. M. M. Bowman opened with group singing of "America". Contests directed by Mrs. Bowman and Russell Palm were the diversions of the social hour.

Refreshments of Dixie cups were served at the close of the session.

Monday Club

Monday club will meet in regular session Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Liberty Trustees' room, Memorial Hall.

The international success of the first syncopated dance hit "Alexander's Ragtime Band," won Irving Berlin, its composer, a contract to appear in person at the London Hippodrome. He put up at the Savoy Manor apartment house in the British metropolis.

Rehearsal of his act showed the American songwriter the necessity of an additional piece of new music to get it under way and so he sat at the piano until very late each night. Other tenants raised such a fuss that the management requested Berlin to stay away from his instrument so other people could sleep.

Berlin stuffed his piano with towels and rags to soften the notes and make them inaudible outside his apartment. It was in this manner that he composed "International Rag," which became an instantaneous hit.

Twenty-six of Irving Berlin's matchless melodies, as well as two additional new tunes, provide the score of the 20th Century-Fox spectacular dramatic romance, "Alexander's Ragtime Band," at the Grand Theatre.

For Tuesday, September 20

A VERY lively and eventful day is the augury based on rather conflicting planetary positions. While there may be definite progress toward the stabilization of congested conditions, yet this reorganization may have somewhat of a devastating nature, causing sudden upheavals, unexpected changes, with surprising contacts or strange adventures, all rather drastic but not lacking in romantic angles.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of unsettlement, with rather contradictory events. While a death or bereavement may be at the root of mended finances and increased estate, yet this may cause unexpected upsets or disturbances, with travel and change.

A child born on this day may be studious and earnest, yet it may seem to have its frivolous moments, being adventurous, unsettled and romantic.

takes place against the background of America's most turbulent years—our times.

IF YOU DO not happen to have gloxinia as a house plant, ask some friend who has one to give you a leaf from it. That's all you need to grow your own gloxinias, for this is the time of year to propagate them by leaf cuttings.

Growing your own gloxinias from a leaf is quite simple. Just "pin" the leaf down in a flat or large pot of wet, clean sand. Notch the leaf along its main veins and then "pin" it flat against the sand with hairpins, as shown in the Garden-Graph. Little plants will soon form where the veins of the old leaf have been notched.

Another method of propagation is by covering the stem of the leaf with sand, either by laying the leaf on sand as previously described or by planting it upright in a flower pot filled with sand. When this method is used small tubers will form as the base of the stem.

When watering a gloxinia plant make sure that the velvety leaves do not become wet.

Annual larkspurs, petunias, snapdragons, centaurias and calendulas are amongst the annuals that can be planted in a cold frame now to produce plants for extra early flowering next spring. There is a long list of annual flowers of which the seeds can be sown in the open for flowering next year, but this work should be delayed until mid-November so the germination will be delayed until early Spring.

Hitler has to rescue those Sudeten Germans because they're abused. Of course the Nazis have never abused any minorities.

Every Little Raindrop Proves Aid To Pirates

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(UP)—Every little rain drop has a meaning all its own to Pie Traynor and his Pittsburgh Pirates these days. When clouds gather overhead and it starts to pour its like manna from heaven to Pie and his bold Buccaneers who are likely to ride the "no-game-today-rain" storms right into the National league pennant. Let it rain, let it pour is the Pirates' war-cry as they "battle" through the muck and rain to the privilege of challenging the Yankees' right to rule the baseball world. Games that can't be played can't be lost by the Pirates. And the Cubs can't catch the Pirates if they can't play.

SADDLE HORSE SHOW CHAIRMEN APPOINTED

ROBERT MUSSER TO DIRECT BIG PUMPKIN EVENT

W. E. Wallace, Orren Updyke, C. E. Roof, Paul Johnson, Others Selected

ADMISSION PRICE FIXED

E. E. Wolf To Meet Board Of Education To Ask For School Field

Robert D. Musser, Northridge road, was reelected general chairman of the saddle horse show of the Pumpkin Show at a meeting of horse fanciers Monday evening. Other chairmen named were W. E. Wallace, chairman of the finance committee; Orren Updyke and C. E. Roof, chairmen of stabling facilities; Paul Johnson, chairman of the program committee; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Adkins, chairman of the entry committee, and Miss Dorothy Updyke, chairman in charge of the pony show. Committee chairmen will select their assistants.

E. E. Wolf, a director in the Pickaway County Agricultural society, will meet with the Circleville board of education at its meeting Tuesday evening to ask permission to use the high school athletic field for the competition. The horse show held on the high school field last year was one of the outstanding events of the Pumpkin Show.

Admissions Approved

Admission prices of 25 cents for adults, 10 cents for children, were approved by the group. They believed a charge of 50 cents, suggested at a recent meeting, was too high. It was agreed that the board of education would be offered $100 for the use of the field or 25 percent of the gate receipts. The money would be given to the athletic fund for necessary repairs on the field.

Another meeting of the group will be held at the Eshelman mill offices at 8 p. m. Tuesday to consider show events. Programs will be issued as soon as possible. In event the board of education refuses to grant the athletic field, arrangements will be discussed for another site. Those under consideration are the ball park, W. Mound street, to be used for the

U. S. to Keep Hands Off Europe; Borah Quoted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(UP)—The opinion was expressed in high places today that a foreign effort was being made to force the United States to "pull Europe's chestnuts out of the fire" and that the Roosevelt administration wouldn't do it.

That opinion reached the United Press from a source so friendly to the administration that it would appear to represent what New Deal policy makers are thinking today.

To illustrate his conception of the Roosevelt-Hull attitude in this crisis in which European powers are juggling the fate of Czechoslovakia, the United Press informant recalled events during the Harding administration, and remarked, in substance:

There is now an effort being made to make the United States pull Europe's chestnuts out of the fire. President Roosevelt, however, is not going to be another Charles Evans Hughes and hold the

GOELLERS BUY LEIST BUILDING IN PARTITION

Lawrence E. and Hazel W. Goeller, Beverly road, purchased the Leist produce building, rear of N. Pickaway street, Monday afternoon, sold at the courthouse in a partition action filed by Wayne G. Leist, Circleville, against Mrs. Cecile Clark, and others.

The building, appraised at $900, was sold for $1,110.

James H. and Fannie R. Mowery, Circleville township, bought a residence and an additional lot 213-215 Walnut street, in the partition sale of Mrs. Retta Stonerock, Circleville, against Leo Goff, Akron, and others. The properties were appraised at $2,000 and $300. They sold for $1,825 and $210 respectively.

draft horse show, and the Heise field, E. Franklin street.

To Charge Fees

Entry fees will be charged for this year's show. Arrangements have been discussed also for boxes but these details will not be worked until it is definite where the show will be held.

Work on the programs will be rushed as rapidly as possible so the show may be advertised at other horse shows being held in the near future.

bag as Mr. Hughes did after the Washington arms conference.

Proposal Recalled

That reference was to the conference summoned in 1921 which attempted to deal by treaty with Pacific problems and before which Hughes startled the world with a proposal that naval powers disarm.

Some persons, including an insider or two, long have believed that naval disarmament was suggested by the British rather than independently developed by Mr. Harding and Mr. Hughes. In support of that argument, it is contended that the Armistice found the United States on the way to naval preeminence and that Great Britain could maintain parity only by persuading the United States to scrap ships.

The alternative would have been increased British building, a costly process and possibly not feasible for a nation just out of an expensive war.

Coincident with the expression of this "chestnut" policy, Sen. William E. Borah, R., Idaho, back here after a long illness, snapped that former French Premier Leon Blum would better remind his fellow countrymen to observe their own formal treaty obligations than to ask the United States to take the lead in effecting European peace.

Borah said "it is not our affair" if Great Britain and France agree to dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

Blum Assailed

"What such a suggestion really means," he said, referring to Blum, "is that the United States involve itself in European controversies and furnish the money and the men which may be necessary in case of war."

"France was most instrumental of all nations in creating the little democracy of Czechoslovakia. She later gave her a solemn promise to come to her rescue in case of trouble. That would seem to be a matter to which the ex-premier should give his attention in this critical hour of Czechoslovakia's life.

"The people of this country may now look forward to a deluge of propaganda seeking to involve the United States in these controversies and all in the name of peace. They call it peace to get us in. But after we get in, it is war!"

REPUBLICANS OF ELEVENTH AREA RALLY TONIGHT

Many Pickaway county Republicans will go to Lancaster Tuesday night to participate in an old-fashioned torchlight parade and attend the rally for the Eleventh Congressional district at the Fairfield county fairgrounds.

John W. Bricker, Republican candidate for governor, and Robert A. Taft, candidate for senator, will be the headline speakers for the meeting. The rally is sponsored by the Fairfield county campaign committee and the Young Republican club of Fairfield county.

This appearance of Bricker and Taft on the same platform, with the exception of the state convention recently in Columbus, will be the only time the two principal candidates of the G. O. P. will attend and speak at the same meeting during the campaign. Candidates for state and congressional leaders will be on hand.
